

MONITORS – All Events

Monitors may be used to help manage events where participants need to work on tasks prior to their presentations which require movement from one area to another, or that require greater quiet/security. An example of such instances would be: taking a parliamentary procedure team or interpersonal communications participant/team to and from a preparation area and performance area.

Prior to STAR Events

- Read the rules for your event thoroughly.

At STAR Events

- Serve as monitor for the event.
- Take individuals and/or teams from the check-in to the preparation room.
- Keep track of time that individuals/teams have to prepare for their event presentation.
- Notify the individuals/teams when time is nearly up (about 1 minute) and when time has expired.
- Provide oversight as teams prepare for their presentation.
- Take individuals and/or teams from the preparation room back to the presentation room.
